I read in the Seattle Times last week about a proposal to redraw the 37th, 11th, 33th, 30th, and 47th districts in south King County to make a "majority minority" district. I live in Kent on the east side in the Soos Creek area and I'm wondering exactly where the new boundaries would be for this proposed district.

I'm highly opposed to this plan. We have always been taught by our leaders in government, education, and media to vote for the best candidate based on the issues not based on skin color and this clearly goes against that teaching. It reeks of hypocrisy on thier part. I have lived in south King County my entire life (33 years) and I see no discrimination against non whites. The idea that they need more representation is preposterous.

Sincerely,
